

Sentry Logistic Solutions Offers Emergency Storage Services to Biotechnology & Pharmaceutical Firms Affected by California Wildfires

In response to the wildfires raging in southern California, Sentry Logistic Solutions is offering contingency storage services to affected pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies at a significantly reduced rate. Sentry is urging area life sciences firms, research organizations and academic institutions to take immediate action to ensure the safety and integrity of their valuable biomaterial assets. Sentry has the expertise, specialized facilities and warehouse space to store temperature-sensitive active pharmaceutical ingredients, finished drug products, pharmaceutical manufacturing and packaging materials and biopharmaceutical components.

Sentry is reaching out to all pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies located in the San Diego area in hopes that the services will enable distressed life sciences companies to focus on their personal safety once they know their inventories are not at risk. Firms interested in learning more about this service are encouraged to call Sentry at (866) 757-7400. The company is offering the following resources at a discounted rate on a first-come, first-serve basis:

- Immediately-available storage space in an ultra-secure and industry-compliant facility
- Cold storage temperature options that include ambient (+15 degrees Celsius to +30 degrees Celsius), refrigerated (+2 degrees Celsius to +8 degrees Celsius) and frozen (-15 degrees Celsius to -25 degrees Celsius)

- Access to a team of logistics and transition experts to ensure materials arrive quickly and within temperature range at Sentry's storage warehouse
- Online inventory tracking capability to monitor shipping and handling status

"The wildfires are causing multiple levels of devastation," said Jennifer Marcum, Sentry's chief executive officer. "We identified a method to minimize the potential loss for area life sciences companies by offering our storage services as a contingency solution. Our main focus is to support our industry counterparts during this time of crisis."
